DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.
2. Applicant cannot rely upon the foreign priority papers to overcome this rejection because a translation of said papers has not been made of record in accordance with 37 CFR 1.55. See MPEP § 201.15.

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS of 4/14/04 has been reviewed and made of record.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 9,10,11 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form.

Claim 9 attempts to incorporate subject matter from claim 7. This is in improper form.

Claim 11 attempts to incorporate subject matter from claim 1. This is in improper form.

Claim 10 depends from claim 9 and falls accordingly.

As far as the claims recite positive limitations, and as interpreted below, the following art rejections are made.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 2627

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-3, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by the Minamino et al PGPUB.

Applicants' attention is drawn to figure 15 thereof. The claimed elements are described and hence met. With respect to claims 2 and 3, these functions follow/flow from the structure, positive elements claimed and hence these limitations are met as well.

Method claims 12 and 13 are met when the above system operates.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the art as applied to claims 1-3 as stated above, and further in view of the acknowledged prior art of figure 7 in this application.

The appropriate element is acknowledged as part of the prior art in this environment for the specified use. Hence It would have been obvious to modify the base system as relied upon above with such acknowledged prior art for the reasons stated therewith.

10. Claims 4-6 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hisakado et al further considered with either the Minamino et al PG PUB/ 2004/0027940; the Deguchi et al PG PUB 2003/0002406; or the Deguchi et al patent ('865).

Claim 4 differs from claim 1 in that it also recites a synch detector and function.

The Hisakado et al reference discloses a system using such, lacking the phase shifter.

Any of the secondary references teach such in this environment.

It would have been obvious to modify the base system of Hisakado et al with the above teaching from any of the secondary references, motivation is as discussed in the secondary references.

11. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the art as applied to claim 4 as stated above, and further in view of the acknowledged prior art of figure 7 in this application.

The appropriate element is acknowledged as part of the prior art in this environment for the specified use. Hence It would have been obvious to modify the base system as relied upon above with such acknowledged prior art for the reasons stated therewith.

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Either the Deguchi et al patent or PG PUB meets the limitations of claims 1-3 and 12 and 13 – see the discussion with respect to figure 2.

Although no art is applied to claims 9-11, if these are re-written in proper US form, then these claims would be rejected under 103 considerations relying upon the acknowledged prior art in combination with the art relied upon with respect to claim 1 or 7 for disclosing/teaching the elements contained in these claims.
